

JOUETT PLEADS FOR CHRISTIAN UNITY

Gives Strong Arguments For Cooperation Among Churches To Win the World

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 21—A plea for Christian unity with all of the churches teaching the principles of Christ acting in unison to "win the world," was made at the opening session of the Kentucky Christian Missionary Convention here today by E. S. Jouett, of Louisville, president of the organization. Mr. Jouett spoke on "A Layman's View of the Disciples of Christ," the missionary convention being held in conjunction with the general convention of the Kentucky church.

After reviewing the history of the Disciples of Christ in Kentucky Mr. Jouett declared that the question of right living is for the individual's conscience and that it is the duty of the church to "arouse the individuals conscience and teach the principles that taught by Christ." He then called to the attention of his auditors the unity that won the war for the allies and continued: "The lesson to the divided armies of God in the present contest is plain. Jesus, the Christ, knowing what was in store for us, and expressing the wisdom of God himself, not only announced it as a fundamental in his plan for world salvation, but he definitely warned us, his disciples, against the danger and weakness of disunion and besought us to stand united in the accomplishment of our task of Christianizing the world. So earnest and deeply concerned was he about it that he did not trust even his own powers of persuasion but definitely prayed to the father that his disciples might be united.  The crisis has come and now, more than ever before, this seems to be the greatest outstanding need of the Christian world, just as the spirit of co-operation is dominant in the political world. The problem for each denomination and especially ours is not whether we can accomplish the thing, but whether we are doing our part toward its accomplishment."

Mr. Jouett declared that the responsibility rests upon the humblest layman as well as the preacher. He then recalled the Unity convention in St. Louis last February when representatives of 22 denominations met asserting that on fundamental facts the various denominations were practically agreed. He pointed to the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Women's Christian Association, the American Bible Society, and the Christian Endeavor Society as examples of what can be done when dogmas are laid aside for greater work.

"We understand," he said, "at the outset that we get nowhere on the assumption that orthodoxy is my dogma and heterodoxy is all the others.  We are now broad enough to recognize that in all other Christian bodies, there are devout followers of Christ who are just as truly saved as we; just as earnest and sincere in their Christian service; just as honest in the opinions which they entertain concerning the construction of the scriptures."

"Now is the time for us as a people to decide whether we are ready to step forth into the magnificent position of responsibility and the laity shall be informed and inspired to back the enterprise," he said, after declaring that every church should get back of the association for the promotion of Christian Unity, which has its headquarters at Baltimore.

Recalling the steps already taken whereby various denominations fraternize, Mr. Jouett declared that when the time comes for a general union "I, for one, and I believe I speak the sentiments of the great majority of the laymen of our church, am ready to enter this union, with Christ as the center and circumference, retaining my views as to controverted questions of scripture interpretation and giving the same right to every other man. Thus, and thus only, can the task ever be accomplished. No one would thereby stuffily himself. No one would needlessly surrender his honest opinions. Once granting that my Presbyterian, my Methodist or my Episcopalian, Methodist or Congregationalist brother is a follower of Christ, no good reason can be shown why we two should not join hands and unite our hearts, sympathies, labors and money in the effort to take and keep the world for Christ."

MAURICE GALVIN MAY NOW HAVE TO TELL

Covington Attorney Who Secured Blair's Pardon Is Indicted By Grand Jury

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Sept. 21—Maurice Galvin, republican state committeeman, was indicted by the Franklin county grand jury here today on a common law charge of conspiracy with Frank Blair, a convict, to whom a pardon was granted by Governor Morrow at Galvin's alleged solicitation. Blair was indicted with Galvin. It is charged that they conspired together to obtain a pardon for Blair and remove him from the boundaries of the state and prevent his arrest by Postoffice Inspector W. C. Lytle, by falsely representing to Governor Morrow that Blair had never been in trouble before and that Blair had a clear prison record.

While U. S. Attorney General Threatens Investigation of Their Real Purpose

(By Associated Press)
Shawnee, Oklahoma, Sept. 21—Three hundred members of the Ku Klux Klan in official regalia paraded through the main streets of Shawnee and Tecumseh late last night after capturing the night editor of the local paper and taking him on the journey. Nothing was done except to display banners and warn law violators through the columns of a Shawnee paper. One banner said "Don't follow us, it's not safe."

Daugherty Sends It To Harding

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 21—Information in the hands of the Department of Justice as to the activities of the Ku Klux Klan was laid before President Harding today by Attorney General Daugherty after the latter conferred with Director Burns of the Department's Bureau of Investigation. Officials declined to express an opinion as to the possibility of federal investigation, but indicated the department would take steps to gather further details of the situation.

MINERS UNION IS STRONGER THAN EVER

(By Associated Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 21—Organized coal miners achieved their greatest numerical strength in the history of their union during the last year despite the general industrial depression and wide-spread unemployment in the coal fields, according to a report made to the convention of United Mine Workers of America today by William Green, secretary-treasurer. The average monthly membership is 515,234. The income in 1920 was over $2,000,000, and in 1921 over $4,000,000, both as of August 1st. On the latter date the net balance was $483,000.

800 KILLED IN DYE PLANT EXPLOSION

Most Terrible Industrial Accident In History Is Reported From Germany

(By Associated Press)
Mayence, Germany, Sept. 21—Eight hundred persons are reported killed and many injured in an explosion in the Badische anilin-fabrik works at Oppau, near Frankenthal, in the Rhine palatinate today.

The disaster appears the most terrible in the history of industrial catastrophe. The explosion occurred when shifts were being made this morning in a laboratory where 800 men were working. A are reported killed.

Other explosions followed with concussion so terrific they were felt here, 35 miles away.

At Mannheim, 13 miles distant, several persons were killed and 30 injured by debris. Some persons were killed at Ludwigshafen, across the river from Mannheim, where the houses were unroofed. Oppau itself is nothing but a heap of ruins.

Reports from the scene say the disaster was due to an explosion of a gas or spirits tank. The plant manufactures explosive nitrogen compounds.

Terribly Woeful!

A young California swain took his lady love—two lovers they were—to church one evening. When the collection was being taken up the young man explored his pockets and found he was absolutely penniless. He whispered to his sweetheart "I haven't a cent. I changed my pants." Meanwhile, the girl had been searching her bag, finding nothing, blushed a rosy red, and said, "I'm in the same predicament."

IT WILL BE A BIG DAY IN RICHMOND

Leading Business Men To Make "Boosters' Day" One Long To Be Remembered

The Boosters' Day which will be put on in Richmond about October 12th, promises to be one of the biggest events ever pulled off in Richmond. For the past week a special advertising man has been calling on the merchants, and after going into details of Boosters' Day, the merchants fell right in with the proposition, and at the close of the canvass, it was found that practically every merchant in Richmond had become a member.

The idea of Boosters' Day is to set aside one certain day to be known as "Trade Day." At that time every merchant joining the club agrees to give away free of charge a handsome and expensive gift. As there are close to seventy-five merchants in the Richmond enterprise, there will be seventy-five prizes given absolutely free, and after tabulating the value of these presents it is safe to say that their value will approximate $750.

In addition to the prizes which are given on Boosters' Day, the management of the Daily Register gives fifty dollars in gold in order to induce the people to read the advertisements of the merchants which will be printed in 2 editions of the paper. Trade Day is beginning to be on the tongue of every citizen and everyone is looking forward to the big event. Further particulars of this wide awake project will be published in the Daily Register Thursday.

Below is a list of the merchants who have united in making this Boosters' Day a success. There are still a few more names who have not fully signed up, but they will be announced from time to time as the project progresses.

LAUREL FARMER'S DEATH A MYSTERY

James McClure, Found Near Boreing With Skull Crushed—Did 'Shiners Do It?

London, Ky., Sept. 21—Was James McClure, wealthy farmer of Laurel county, murdered by a gang of moonshiners; was he the victim of jealousy or was he slain for his money?

These are the questions which have been puzzling the authorities of Laurel county since McClure's body was found last Saturday at his home near Boreing with the skull crushed like an egg shell from a blow with a carpenter's hammer.

Three men and one woman are in jail here at the present time facing charges of murder. Their examining trials will be held Thursday in county court. The four were arrested soon after the discovery of the crime.

Janie Sasser, about 30 years old, the daughter of a tenant on McClure's farm, and said to have been a sweetheart of McClure, is the woman in the case. Harvey Reynolds, a former lodger at the home of McClure and a friend of Miss Sasser; Perry Lawson, a brother-in-law of Miss Sasser, and a boy named Gilbert, related to the Sasser family, are also held for the crime.

The body of McClure was discovered by Reynolds and Miss Sasser, according to their story, Saturday. On that day they declare they went to the murdered man's home for some vegetables. Upon their arrival they found all the doors locked. A note was fastened to the front door reading: "Look for the keys about the —," the last word having been erased.

They then looked through the window and saw McClure's body lying on the bed. Later the keys to the house were found in a water gourd near the spring.

McClure, according to the authorities, was last seen Friday when he ate supper at the Sasser home.

Death is thought to have come without warning to McClure. His skull was crushed and his brain penetrated by a heavy carpenter's hammer. The hammer was found near the bed upon which the body was lying. The hammer belonged to McClure.

No signs of a struggle could be found in the room. It is believed that the assailant struck McClure before the dead man was aware of the impending danger.

Authorities thus far have offered no explanation for the murder. Three theories are held, however. One is that a clan of moonshiners operating in the vicinity killed McClure to prevent him from opposing their activities. Another is that he was the victim of a plot to seize his estate, valued at between six and ten thousand dollars. The third theory is that McClure was slain through jealousy by a discarded lover of Miss Sasser.

McClure, who was a cripple, was a widower.

Ask Democratic Nominee For Judge To Withdraw

Somerset, Ky., Sept. 21—The Democratic Executive Committee of Pulaski county, at a called meeting, set an unusual precedent when it unanimously adopted a resolution requesting E. E. Bell, of Monticello, democratic nominee for circuit judge of the district composed of Rockcastle, Wayne, Pulaski and Clinton counties, to withdraw from the race.

This was done for the reason that it was felt his continuing in the race would materially lessen the chances of the two democratic nominees in Pulaski county, M. L. Singleton for jailer, and Jack Edwards for sheriff.

LARGE CREDITORS TO TAKE OVER CONTROL

Judge Cochran Sets Aside Previous Order For Appointment of Receiver

Attorneys representing several Richmond banks returned from Maysville Tuesday where they appeared before Judge A. M. J. Cochran, of Federal Court, and had him dismiss proceedings in the case of Lee Congleton for want of jurisdiction. One of the attorneys informed the Daily Register that the large creditors of Mr. Congleton will take steps immediately to take charge of his property for their benefit. He said that the largest creditors are Richmond banks to the amount of about $20,000, and Lexington banks to the amount of about $70,000. He estimated Mr. Congleton's liabilities at around $120,000, unsecured; $100,000, secured. He expressed the opinion that his assets would net about $125,000.

Original proceedings, when it became evident that Mr. Congleton was in financial difficulties, were taken by Robert Peters, a small creditor of Indiana. He filed a friendly suit for a receivership. Mr. Congleton filed an answer admitting his insolvency and the need for a receiver for his business. Henry Maguire was then appointed by Judge Cochran. Mr. Maguire now lives in Lexington but is formerly from Beattyville. The larger creditors feeling that their interests should be more fully represented, took the action referred to above.

Mr. Congleton is one of the best known farmers and business men in this and Fayette counties. He converted much of his property into high-priced farms in Fayette county during the period of inflated values of the past few years and this is said to have been largely the cause of the difficulties in which his business has become involved.

FAMOUS TEXAS ATTORNEY

To Seen Visit His Former Law Partner, J. A. Sullivan, Here

Hon. Harvey B. Herd, attorney at law of Fort Worth, Texas, has written from Battle Creek, Mich., where he and his wife now are, that they will, during this fall, visit in Kentucky, and while so doing, will come to Richmond. Mr. Herd says Richmond is to him a sad place to visit as all his old college chums here are either dead or have moved away, except Mr. Sullivan and Robert K. Barrman.

Mr. Herd and Mr. Sullivan both returned from the University of Virginia in September, 1883, and as a firm entered the practice of law. But Herd soon concluded that Richmond was entirely too slow a proposition and went to Fort Worth, Texas, and has made a great success there, and is rated as a millionaire. His wife will accompany him on his visit here. She is a daughter of John Favis, who with his family, emigrated from here to Texas many years ago. She is widely connected in Madison county.

Advertising

The average buyer would do well to look with care at the offerings of the merchant who does not advertise. No matter what claims that merchant may make concerning the facilities at his command for cutting profit to a point where the patron is the beneficiary, it is evident that he has not utilized the one biggest factor available in accomplishing that purpose.

Unless he advertises consistently, it is reasonable to assume that the merchant is not "turning over" his stock as many times a year as he should. And fewer "turn overs" of merchandise mean higher prices for the consumer. He cannot escape them.

Unless the merchant is taking advantage of every element to derive the fullest returns from his investment in floor space, heat, light, sales force and service departments, he is compelled to boost the figures on his price tag in order to "come out" successfully on his net profits.

The persuasive appeal of intelligent, truthful, advertising, persistently applied, is the only thing that really can bring the volume of sales to a peak that will permit the reduction of prices on individual items.

When you buy advertised goods you have the satisfaction of knowing that the dealer who sells them does so with a confident belief in their merit.

It is natural that the lavishing of wide publicity on any product should tend to elevate the equality of that product. The manufacturer, through advertising, creates a demand for the article or articles he makes. If he expects to hold the market resulting from that demand, he must make a worthy product. The volume of his production, built up by the constantly growing market, due to advertising, lowers manufacturing costs and enables both the manufacturer and the retailer to take a minimum price on their sales.

The alert retailer cashes in on the reputation established by the manufacturers and sticks with their goods. He knows it will hold his own trade and result in

The advertising columns of the newspapers sketch briefly and attractively the buying opportunities of the day. They lead the customer to the counters of reliable dealers from whom he may expect square dealing and dollar-for-dollar values. They constitute an authentic guide to the legitimate stores in every community.

Because this is true it will pay you to read the advertisements closely and constantly. Compare values and make the most of your expenditures.

The Kentucky statutes say it is right and proper to put your money on the races at Churchill Downs, but a mile from there at the State Fair grounds it is gambling to bet a dollar with a friend on a race, says the Elizabethtown News. Yes; and the Kentucky statutes also say that you may carry a pistol in your hand, and you're not violating the law, but if you put in your pocket you're subject to fine and imprisonment and disfranchisement. Or you drive a car ten miles an hour and you're no lawbreaker but drive it 40 or 50 miles an hour and again the heavy hand of the law clamps down on you. The wording of the law makes a lot of difference in most everything in our present day life.

SAYS HER RECOVERY IS ALMOST LIKE A MIRACLE

From Helpless Invalid To Complete Restoration of Health, Strength, and Happiness is Wonderful Change Mrs. Root Experienced In Three Weeks—Statement One of the Most Remarkable On Record.

MRS. JENNIE ROOT

"Just a week before I started taking Tanlac I was down in bed so crippled up with rheumatism I could not move without help. My son had taken Tanlac and it had done him a world of good, so one day he brought home a bottle and said, 'Mother, I want you to take this.' When I had finished the bottle, I felt like a different woman, and by the time I had finished my second bottle, I was out in the garden hosing."

"Tancal has simply done wonders for me; it almost seems like a miracle." This is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Jennie Root residing at 1469 Powers street, Portland, Ore., and is only one of tens of thousands from well known men and women who are daily testifying to the powers of Tanlac.

Continuing her statement, Mrs. Root said, "For years I suffered terribly with rheumatism, and would often be down in bed for days at a time. In the last five years there was not a time when I didn't feel those rheumatic pains all through my body. About two months ago I got very much worse and my arms and legs were so bad I was almost helpless and couldn't even hold a pen to sign my name. I was so weak I could not do any housework."

"My appetite is just splendid now, and just today for the first time in years, I felt so hungry that I had to eat a piece of pie between meals. In fact, I can't remember the time that I have felt as well as I do now. I have not only regained my health and strength, but I have gained fourteen pounds in weight. To tell you the truth, I wouldn't exchange the benefit I have received from Tanlac for the best ranch in Oregon, and I will praise it as long as I live."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son, and leading druggists.

Kentucky's Greatest Trotting meeting at Lexington, Oct. 3 to 15 is certain to draw an attendance from all parts of the U. S. A. and Canada. The purses aggregate $80,000, average $2,000, and not one is for less than $1,000, with the Kentucky Futurity (or 3-year-olds) worth $14,000, the Futurity (2-year-olds) $7,000, the Transylvania $5,000, the Castleton $4,000, the Walnut Hall Cup $3,000 and the Phoenix Hotel Prize $3,000. Every really first-class horse in America and Canada is eligible to start. What races they will make!

While predicting that the Kentucky Futurity will be one of the greatest colt races ever witnessed, the best judges of trotting contend that the races for the Walnut Hall Cup (Monday, Oct. 3), the Transylvania (Thursday, Oct. 6), and the Castleton (Tuesday, Oct. 11), the three big events for trotters of all ages will be bitterly fought out in time so fast that they will be the talk of the whole country for years to come and that one of the three will go down in history as the "Race of the Century."

Practically all of Lexington's hotel space has been reserved and every private box—98 in number—in the grand stand has been sold to purchasers from 21 states and Canada. 209 21 w 904 218 6p

"The Ghost in the Garret"

Wins Dorothy Gish Triumph
Charming Dorothy Gish, popular Paramount star, proved herself a highly talented comedienne as the heroine in "The Ghost in the Garret," her latest starring vehicle which will be presented at the local theatres Wednesday. The action hinges upon the theft or manipulation of a pearl necklace, of the theft of which the heroine is accused. Her sweet-heart shoulders the crime to save her, and to save him she follows the thieves into a haunted house, carrying her bulldog with her. What transpires in this spooky place provides much relishable comedy, mingled with thrills. It is a capital production and the support headed by William Park, is all that could be demanded.

FEWER OFFICES AND SMALLER SALARIES

Needed in Kentucky, Owensboro
Farm Bureau Worker Tells County Judges

(By Associated Press)

Owensboro, Sept. 21—Abolish the many "insect" offices in the state, do away with the fee system of paying county officers and limit salaries in counties with certain tax valuations to a maximum of $2,000 a year and make the salary lower in counties with lower valuations, Henry S. Berry, of Owensboro, vice president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, today told the annual convention of the County Judges of the state. He advocated appointment of a commission of five persons—not politicians—to decide what offices are unnecessary and urged amendment of the state constitution to do away with the fee system.

Mr. Berry reviewed the rise in land value during the war and the drop when values of farm products slumped afterward, asserting that taxes and the means of getting the money to pay them was causing the farmers much concern.

Among other things he advocated an effort made with "caution and spite," to list all property in the state for taxation. He said that he understood that the total value of property in the state was estimated at five billion dollars of which about half is not listed for taxation.

The speaker said that he had written to a number of prominent men and editors on the subject and quoted Lieutenant Governor Ballard as saying that "personally, I absolutely agree with you that in the state we have entirely too many officeholders, all of whom get entirely too much money, especially so where fees are allowed. I think the whole administration system of the state and most states that I know of, is very bad indeed. I believe our cities all cost two or three times as much to run as they should and I think our streets cost a great deal more than they should, and altogether I think our cities and counties are very badly governed."

"We have a handful of officeholders, comparatively speaking," said Mr. Berry, "and hundreds of thousands of taxpayers. In the past this handful has dominated the people of both political parties and have had the spending of the taxes. These hundreds of thousands have had to dig up the taxes. Now I propose with your help to have these thousands control the policies and expenditures and make these officeholders public servants to work under the direction of the taxpayers."

The constitution of Kentucky, the speaker said, was made in 1891 to 1893 and fees for various offices were fixed on the valuations of that time. Since then, he said, property values have increased 400 to 500 per cent. He declared that the great number of men seeking public office were not doing so for patriotic motives but because they could make more than in private life.

He cited the Owensboro city government as an economical form. The city clerk, he said, draws $2,000 a year and is assisted by a number of young women at moderate salaries and yet this office keeps all books and accounts and collects nearly $500,000 a year in taxes, water and light bills.

The law, he said, allows sheriffs eight per cent on the first $5,000 collected and four per cent on the remainder, but in no case more than $5,000 a year, but he added, he was informed that the Daviess county sheriff's office is worth $15,000 a year net and "that while it is a violation of the law, every sheriff in the state is doing likewise and that there was a trust of the sheriffs of the state so strong that there was no prosecution to make a sheriff refund."

The tax commissioner's office in Daviess county pays $8,500 a year, he says, and "it is said the county clerk's office is now worth around $10,000 per annum. The circuit clerk's office is worth almost as much." He added that what concerned the taxpayers is why "we should be compelled to pay the man who wins these offices several times, more in an official capacity, than such could or ever did earn in a private capacity." He expressed the belief that any man in the last race in his county could be hired in private life for from $1,500 to $2,000 a year and be glad to get the

The county judge, he said, must have great executive ability and yet he draws the lowest salary of any officer. He said there was a dread of concentrating too much power in one man, but that in practice election of officers did not always work to the public good and that in his opinion it would be better for the judge to appoint men where the office is clerical and let "the people look to the county judge or the commissioners for an economical and efficient administration." "What is the remedy?" he added. "Let us take steps to put the various offices in the county on a salary basis—the chief's salary to be not over $2,000 per annum in counties of a certain class. In other counties where the valuations are much lower make them lower. Let all fees from any source after paying for running offices go into the state and county treasuries. To carry this out let us put all counties on a commission basis. I would prefer to elect the best men possible for county judge and let him appoint officials and oversee the office. If the people are afraid of putting too much power in one man's hands, then let us elect a county judge and two commissioners and let them appoint officers and oversee the offices and look after everything."

CLARKE PRAISES PRESENT TAX LAW

(By Associated Press)

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 21—The classified tax law adopted in Kentucky in 1917 has brought out about one billion dollars worth of property not heretofore assessed and has reduced taxes on real estate while increasing the total of taxes collected for state uses, P. N. Clarke, Secretary of the Kentucky Tax Reform Association, told the annual convention of the County Judges' Association at its first session here today.

"The classified tax law adopted in Kentucky in 1917 has brought out formerly omitted and undervalued personal property to the extent of about one billion dollars and has enabled a reduction in the state tax rate of thirty-seven and one-half per cent," Mr. Clarke told the Judges. "Real estate which formerly paid four-fifths of the taxes is now paying only a little more than one-half and while the state revenue from taxes has increased $2,500,000 in the past four years the taxes on real estate and live stock are only ten per cent more than in 1917 under the old law, while personal property is now paying the other ninety per cent."

"That taxes are higher is due to the increased assessments of property which the old law provides shall be uniformly at the fair cash value, and the state tax commission is endeavoring to equalize assessments in accordance with the law. Another reason for higher taxes is because of the retention of the old tax rates in counties and cities where they have been retained or increased in the face of increased assessments."

"The assessment of property for county taxation in 1917 was $922,000,000, while property now subject to county taxes is assessed at $1,500,000,000. County revenues have increased from $5,000,000 to $9,000,000 and if the counties needed the additional revenue they have received it, but if it was not needed, the local tax rates could have been reduced as was done by the state tax rates."

"Classification in keeping down the taxes on real estate by sharing the burden, and it would be inexcusable to change the present law, as any attempt to tax intangible personal property, as was tried in the past, would cause it to disappear again and the real estate would have more taxes to pay."

"The present tax laws of Kentucky are as good as any in any state and superior to many, and it is inconceivable that there should be any tampering with them. Those who talk flippantly about repealing them should at least explain what is proposed as a substitute as there must be tax laws."

"The former law was a rank failure and the present law is entitled to a fair trial before it is condemned."

Miss Ruth Ross was taken to the Gibson Hospital suffering from appendicitis. Her friends hope for a successful operation and speedy recovery.

A large crowd attended the Todd sale conducted by Col. Jesse

Cobb last Thursday. The home place, containing about 65 acres, was bought by Mrs. Jennie Rogers at $200 per acre and the land adjoining, containing about 75 acres, was bought by Mr. Robt. Botkins for $140 per acre. The stock and household goods realized good prices as they always do when Col. Cobb is on the block.

Is the Job Too Tough?

Mr. Sterling, Sept. 20—William Stamper, of this city, who recently was appointed a United States prohibition officer, has resigned. It became known today. He gave as his reason that his farming interests required his attention.

AUCTION SALE

ON THURSDAY SEPTEMBER 29

At 2:00 P. M. Rain or Shine

We Will Sell For

Mrs. Annie E. Wallace, Her

(Executrix of D. F. Wallace)

203 ACRE FARM

Near Waco, Kentucky

We will sell for Mrs. Annie E. Wallace her 203 acre farm, located on the Muddy Creek road, one mile west of the College Hill and Red River pike, and adjoining the property of Mrs. Robert Covington, Charles Tribble, Muddy Creek and Sam Hisle.

This farm is better known as the Elmer Deatherage tract of land.

The improvements are as follows:—Six room frame house, fine cistern, good garden, beautiful yard, a combination stock barn. This is one of the best barns in Madison county built when barns were really built. There is 60,000 feet of lumber in this barn, good metal roof, under fence inside and boundary. Farm is well watered, slightly rolling and drained. The soil is a Hagerstown Loam Formation upon which rests a blue grass soil suitable for corn, tobacco, etc.

This farm lays well and there are 150 acres in cultivatable land of which 25 acres are Muddy Creek Bottom. The fact alone speaks for itself. Taking this farm as a whole, the growing crops and blue grass will speak for the quality of the land.

This beautiful home is just two miles from Waco, where you will find all your wants. satisfied. Close to school, Churches, etc.

The fact that Mrs. Wallace can no longer manage this farm, owing to the death of her husband, Mr. D. F. Wallace, constitutes her only reason for offering to sell this splendid, money-making farm.

Conditions and terms liberal and will be made known on day of sale. Any intending purchaser need not worry about the terms.

All that is wanted is the worth of this property and to be secured in the payment of the purchase money. Title clean, and unincumbered. Possession will be given Jan. 1, 1922.

By calling at our office we will be glad to show any prospective buyer over the farm before the day of sale.

Government May Probe K. K. K.
 Washington, Sept. 21—The federal government is considering investigating activities of the Ku Klux Klan, Attorney General H. M. Daugherty said last night. "This government is not going to be run or intimidated by any man or organization wearing a mask."

Mr. Daugherty will confer with Chief Burns again tomorrow and with Mr. Haywood Saturday.

The ideals of the Ku Klux Klan the Attorney General declared, are "repugnant to any lawyer or law-abiding citizen."

While literature and the avowed purpose of the organization, he explained, do not on their face indicate illegality, the government is anxious to find out what lies beyond these ostensible objects. He added:

"Possibly the organization may be compared to a number of corporations that have been found to be violating anti-trust laws. Their charters and minutes often proclaimed the most virtuous ideals and objects, but it is the wink and the nod that does the trick."

Any investigation that may be undertaken by the government, Mr. Daugherty said, will be to ascertain what goes on behind the closed doors of the Klan meetings.

If facts warrant federal action, he said, they will be placed before a grand jury and the findings of an indictment urged. The charge upon which such a true bill would be returned was not revealed.

That the Attorney General has New York City in mind for inauguration for such a prosecution was indicated by the fact that District Attorney Haywood was called into the conference.

K. C. Ready For Investigation

New York, Sept. 21—The Knights of Columbus are ready for investigation by any lawfully constituted authority, Supreme Secretary William J. McGinley, declared today in a statement dealing with adoption yesterday by the City Council of Atlanta, Ga. of resolutions calling upon newspapers investigating alleged un-American institutions to include the K. of C.

Masons Denounce K. K. K.

St. Louis, Sept. 21—The Ku Klux Klan was denounced as destructive of free government, peace and harmony by William F. Johnson, Grand Master of the Centennial Grand Lodge of Missouri, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, in an address at the lodge's annual convention, which opened here today.

"As the impression seems to prevail in certain sections," declared Mr. Johnson, "that the Masonic fraternity is associated directly or indirectly with this (Ku Klux Klan) secret organization it is well that the seal of disapproval be placed positively by this grand lodge upon this secret organization."

We, as Free Masons and good citizens, cannot recognize the right of any secret society or combination of men to assume unto themselves the right to administer law and to inflict punishment upon their fellowmen. Such an assumption is subversive of our republican institutions, contrary to the great principles of Free Masonry.

"An organization that practices censorship of private conduct behind the midnight anonymity of mask and robe, and enforces its secret decrees with whips and tar and feathers, ultimately must merit and receive the condemnation of those who believe in courts, open justice and good citizenship."

Pour Whisky Out at Winchester Three Epochs Of Woman's Life

There are three critical stages in a woman's life which leave their mark on her career—the first when she changes from a care-free girl to a woman, the second motherhood, and the third is change of life. Most of the misery which comes to women through ill health dates from one or another of these periods, but women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a reliable remedy and has been very successful in overcoming the ailments which may come to them at these times as it is a natural restorative for such conditions. Nearly a half a century of success entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded woman.
